18 West Virginia Doctors Linked to Fake Drug Rings

Counterfeit cancer drugs have touched West Virginia as well. 18 different medical practices in West Virginia have been implicated in various black market supply chains associated with counterfeit cancer treatments and other therapies. Families who have lost relatives to cancer will never know if their loved ones were given real medication or fake, and if they died from a lack of treatment.

The country has seen an upsurge in counterfeit prescription pills masquerading as painkillers and Xanax. These pills are disguised as real medications but made with deadly fentanyl or its even deadlier variants, and even a fraction of a single pill can mean death in less than 30 minutes of ingesting it.

Fentanyl is a serious threat to West Virginians. Deaths related to fentanyl increased in the state by 24% between 2015 and 2016, and continued to rise in 2017. A woman in Welch died after taking fentanyl pills in April 2016. A few months later, the West Virginia Poison Center announced that three people who had survived opioid overdoses were insisting that they had taken Xanax. By November 2017, law enforcement in Charleston had found counterfeit, fentanyl-laced oxycodone being sold on the street.
COUNTERFEIT AND BLACK MARKET DRUG INVESTIGATIONS IN WEST VIRGINIA (2012–2019)

BASED ON REPORTED INVESTIGATIONS.
NOTE THAT EACH INVESTIGATION COULD HAVE AFFECTED HUNDREDS OF WEST VIRGINIA RESIDENTS.

FENTANYL AND COUNTERFEIT PILLS MADE WITH FENTANYL

October 2019: Huntington police officers arrested three men and seized a large pill press, 239 grams of suspected heroin/fentanyl and a variety of other drugs.¹

November 2017: The Charleston Police Department reported finding counterfeit oxycodone pills made from pure fentanyl. The West Virginia Department of Health and Human Resources’ preliminary statistics showed that fentanyl killed more West Virginians than any other drug in 2017.² Fentanyl-related deaths climbed from 58 to 324 between 2014 and 2016.³

July 2017: Two police officers in Huntington were hospitalized for suspected fentanyl exposure after processing heroin they had seized for evidence.⁴

August 2016: 27 people overdosed and one person died over a six hour period in Huntington, after taking what authorities believed was fentanyl-laced heroin.⁵ Akron, Ohio resident Bruce Lamar Griggs, who sold the fentanyl-laced heroin, was sentenced to 18 years and four months in prison in April 2017.⁶

June 2016: West Virginia Poison Center warned that it had been notified of three cases of opioid overdose where patients insisted they had taken Xanax.⁷

April 2016: A woman in Welch died after taking fentanyl pills distributed by a New York-based drug trafficking ring.⁸

BLACK MARKET AND COUNTERFEIT CANCER DRUGS

April 2015: The FDA warned 271 medical practices, two in West Virginia, to stop buying medicine from unlicensed drug distributor Gallant Pharmaceuticals.⁹ Gallant, a northern Virginia-based company that claimed it was Canadian, sold 39 non FDA-approved medications shipped in unreliable conditions from unreliable sources in countries such as India, Switzerland, and Turkey. The federal government convicted and sentenced 12 individuals—executives, sales representatives, administrative staff and others, including a physician in McLean who received the illegal medicines and treated his own patients with them—in connection with the case.¹⁰

May 2013: The FDA warned 780 medical practices, four in West Virginia, to stop doing business with unlicensed drug seller Medical Device King, which had sold 31 non-FDA approved medications, including counterfeit Avastin.¹¹

2012–2013 The FDA warned more than 500 medical practices across the country—five in West Virginia—to stop buying from CanadaDrugs.com subsidiaries that had sold American doctors counterfeit Avastin.¹²

OTHER DRUGS

August 2019: The Louisville Field Division of the Drug Enforcement Administration intercepted counterfeit Adderall made with methamphetamine that was bound for Kentucky, Tennessee and West Virginia.¹³

August 2016: A St. Albans businessman was sentenced to five years in prison for crimes related to cocaine trafficking. Federal agents who raided his home in October 2015 found controlled substances, more than 60 guns, and drug paraphernalia, including pill presses allegedly used to make counterfeit Xanax.¹⁴

March 2016: The FDA warned five West Virginia doctors and more than 1,200 nationwide to stop buying from Canadian distributor TC Medical, which sold 22 different kinds of non-FDA approved medications, including counterfeit Botox.¹⁵

July 2013: Two West Virginia medical practices were among 233 who the FDA warned for buying fraudulent versions of Botox from “Online Botox Pharmacy,” “Onlinebotox.com,” and “Onlinebotox.”¹⁶

